

AUTISM SERVICES

CENTRE-BASED SERVICES (AGES 0-12)

Centre-based services include a wide variety of goals and programming individualized for you and your child. Some examples of goals to be worked on in centre can include following instructions, following routines (such as classroom and home routines), independent and interactive play skills, pre-academic skills for school success, building vocabulary, communicating wants and needs, and building independent life skills. Goals are selected based on parent priority, and direct assessment of your child's current skill repertoire. These goals will be worked on in a home-like centre setting, during 1:1 treatment time and small group sessions.

The centre has many different toys and other amenities, which are commonly found in homes, school and daycare settings to help promote generalization of skills taught across environments. Monthly observations with your Clinical Supervisor will help you as a parent better understand how to continue the learning of these goals into your home and into your child's natural daily routines. Centre-based services are most successful when there is at least one community-based home session, where a staff from your child's team can work directly with you as a parent/caregiver on how to continue your child's learning using Applied Behaviour Analysis (ABA) principles in your everyday life.

AUTISM SERVICES

FAMILY SKILL DEVELOPMENT SERVICES (AGES 0–18)

Family Skill Development Services (ages 0-18) include sessions in your home or community, including settings such as a hair salon, grocery store, dentist's office, doctor's office, community centre, and more. Sessions in the community include Family Skill Development, which includes transferring information to caregivers and other important individuals for continued practice and development of skills taught, and for learning about ABA strategies. Participants in Family Skill Development will be involved for the entire session in the home or community, learning from the ABA Therapist and practising skills in the moment.

Goals in these settings are individualized for you and your child, based on caregiver goals and assessments. Some examples of goals include: staying safe in the community, using communication appropriately in the natural environment, eating a variety of foods, tolerating medical appointments, and using appropriate communication and strategies instead of challenging behaviours.

LEAP

communication | social attention | imitation | play skills

The Leap Preschool is founded on the principles of the Early Start Denver Model along with the principles of ABA. Our program aims to help children aged 2.5-5 with autism or suspected autism "leap" into successful first years of school by supporting them to develop pivotal areas such as communication, social attention, imitation and play skills.

The Leap Preschool operates Monday-Friday with a ratio of 2 staff to 5 children, from 9:00 a.m. - 12:00 p.m. We are located at 69 Flatt Rd, Burlington.

SERVICE OPTIONS

- Session blocks run for 20 weeks:
- September to January and February to June.
- Parent consultation is included with this program.

The Leap Preschool is overseen by Katie Michalek and Holly Adair-Simpson who are Board Certified Behaviour Analysts who are trained at the advanced level of the Early Start Denver Model.
